Not an American Proverb.

Honesty sometimes costs, even nowadays. The Saturday Review is responsible for the statement that the proverb, "Honesty is the best policy" was improved in the United States into "Make money honestly if you can, but make it." Quintus Horatius Flaccus was not an American citizen and the great American republic was not thought of for a good many centuries after he penned his famous injunction, "Rem facere, recte si posses" (Do a thing, but do it right if possible).—London Globe.

LEGISLATURE TO QUIT ON JUNE 8

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—With the passage of the defeat of the Buck-Austin private banks bill in the house early next week, the road will be cleared for adjournment of the Illinois legislature. Friday, June 8, is the date for quitting agreed upon to-day informally by legislative leaders. The omnibus appropriation bill is to be reported from committee Tuesday or Wednesday, to be followed in the next week by the revenue bill. Two weeks are allowed for these money measures to get thru.

Will Be a Recess.

It is understood that it is to be a recess, and not a sine die adjournment, in view of the necessity of important legislation during the war period.

The plan will be to take short time recesses from month to month, with the understanding that no business is to be transacted unless matters of vital importance are presented by the governor.

Fight Private Bank Bill.

The private bank bill is the last important proposition on the legislative program. The private bank lobby will go the limit to defeat the state-wide bill, which will come up on second reading on Tuesday or Wednesday. They probably will attempt to amend it to apply only to Chicago. Lawyers say such a law would be unconstitutional.

If it is decided to put thru a congressional re-appointment bill it will be introduced on Tuesday in the senate.

MARINE CORPS WANTS TO GO ABROAD FIRST

General Barnett Says He'll Have No Trouble Raising 30,000 Men.

Washington.—American marines will insist on their right to be the first United States soldiers in the European trenches. Brigadier General George Barnett told the house navy committee, explaining the reason for the proposed increase from 17,400 to 30,000 in the marine corps.

General Barnett, commandant of marines, said the morale and spirit of the men would be seriously affected unless they were "first men" as usual of the United States expeditionary armed forces. He said he would have no difficulty in getting the 30,000 men.

"We are getting them as fast as we can digest them now," he said.

Rear Admiral Palmer, chief of the bureau of navigation, explained the navy's needs for an increase from 87,000 to 150,000 men.

"The navy will need 5,000 men for aviation," he said.

"Twenty men are needed for each submarine chaser. From twenty to forty men will be needed on each armed merchant ship. There must be full crews for all auxiliary and reserve ships."

A Dangerous Precedent.

The worst case of law versus justice and common sense is one which Montaigne relates as having happened in his own day. Some men were condemned to death for murder. The judges were then informed by the officers of an inferior court that certain persons in their custody had confessed themselves guilty of the murder and had told so circumstantial a tale that the fact was placed beyond all doubt. Nevertheless it was deemed so bad a precedent to revoke a sentence and show that the law could err that the innocent men were delivered over to execution.—London Mail.

Offers Fifteen Sons to Nation.

Crystal Springs, Miss.—"I have not one, but fifteen sons, to give to the army and navy and will willingly do so," said John Taylor, a farmer living near here. He is the father of twenty-two children. All the fifteen sons will come within the military age limit and are willing to go. So is Mr. Taylor.
